

The image shows the storefront of a gallery named 'Zinzolin'. The storefront is painted a vibrant red. At the top, the name 'Zinzolin' is written in a gold, cursive script. Below this is a large glass window and a glass door, both framed in red. Through the window, various art pieces are visible, including a large white sculpture on a stand and several framed paintings. The bottom of the red frame also features the 'Zinzolin' name in gold script. To the left of the red storefront is a white door with decorative glass panels. To the right is a light-colored stone wall.
